Klutznik Tells Pope:

JEWISH PEOPLE ENDORSES PEACE MOVE

JEWISH ISSUE IN ELECTION CAMPAIGN

Demand Party Leaders Clarify Stand On Hate Dissemination Following Arcand Rally

MONTREAL (CJN). — The first antisemitic election rally held here last Sunday night may intensify the movement for outlawing racial hatred in Canada. Following the blatant antisemitic address of would-be feurer of the French Canadian fascists, who told several hundred of his old-time followers that the Rothschilds control Canada and that the Jews are plotting to take over the government of this country, the leaders of Canada's National Party will be asked by Liberal groups to state their position on a law against dissemination of hatred.

The revival of a Nazi movement in emotionally charged Quebec by veteran demagogue, Adrien Arcand, 66, who spent the war years in a camp, has caused some concern among the leaders of all parties in this province.

Some informants told The Canadian Jewish News that Arcand, who has connections with Nazis the world over, "probably" is supported by Nazis in other countries. His meeting was organized according to the known Hitlerite pattern. He

GOLDSTEIN, HESCHEL CRITICIZE THE VATICAN SCHEMA ON THE JEWS

New York, N.Y. (CJN). — While welcoming the historic address to the United Nations by Pope Paul VI and expressing unequivocal Jewish support for any initiative for peace and concord among men, Jewish leaders here simultaneously expressed their regret that the last announced Vatican schema on the Jews does not denounce the deicide legend.

"DEFIANCE OF GOD OF ABRAHAM"

Rabbi Abraham Joshua Heschel, professor of the Theological Seminary, told the press:

"Not to condemn the demonic canard of deicide, a cause of murder and pogroms, would mean condoning Auschwitz, defiance of the God of Abraham, and an act of paying homage to Satan."

WENT TO ROME

Dr. Heschel journeyed last Erev Yom Kippur to Rome at the invitation of Cardinal Augustine Bea in order to help prepare the schema acceptable to Jews and the liberal world. He was then criticized by the Lubavitcher Rebbe and Dr. Joseph B. Soloveitchik for participating in these discussions. He had also been cautioned that the conservative curia in Rome would not subscribe to the so-called "exoneration" of "Jewish guilt" in the death of Jesus.

Now Dr. Heschel admits with great sorrow that the Roman prelates who were instrumental in bringing him to Rome are obviously not speaking for the regime in the church.

(In Toronto, Dr. Walter S. Wurzburger, rabbi of Shaarei Shomayim and the leader of North American Rabbinical council, rejected the entire idea for the "exoneration". We, the Jews don't need any "exoneration" from deicide; our persecutors need it, said Wurzburger.

NO REFERENCE MADE

Some U.S. Jewish leaders expressed "disappointment" that the Vatican Ecumenical Council, in its declaration on Jews, has deleted a passage absolving Jews of deicide in the death of Christ.

"It was hoped that the ghost of this specific charge would be laid to rest once and forever," said Dr. Israel Goldstein, rabbi emeritus of Congregation B'nai Jehurun here and world chairman of the United Jewish Appeal.

The deicide charge was rescinded in the council's original declaration last November by a vote of 1,651 to 99 in a bow to the wishes of liberal U.S. bishops who considered it a basic source of anti-Semitism.

Last Thursday's revision specifically deplored "displays of anti-Semitism" but did not refer to the deicide charge.

The change in emphasis apparently was due to pressure from Arab leaders and bishops stationed in Arab lands who feared the original text would be taken as support of Israel.

U.S. BISHOPS MAY CHANGE SCHEMA

American Jewish Committee President Morris B. Abram said the revision was less "decisive and satisfactory" than the original text but was nonetheless "a forward step in Jewish-Catholic relations." He praised the "explicit condemnation of anti-Semitism."

Support for the revised version may come from some U.S. bishops who sponsored the original version but are now reported willing to accept a specific condemnation of anti Semitism.

WORD IN QUESTION

Rome, (CJN). — Copies were circulated to the Ecumenical council fathers on Thursday of the revised text of the declaration dealing with non-Christian religions, which includes consideration of the Roman Church's relations with the Jews. The revisions include the disappearance of any reference to deicide. In the modified text the passage on this problem can be summarized as follows:—

"Although the Jewish authorities, and those who followed their lead, pressed for the death of Christ, nevertheless what happened to Christ in his passion cannot be attributed to all Jews, without distinction, then alive, nor to the Jews of today.

"Although the Church is the new people of God the Jews should not be presented as rejected by God or accursed, as if this follows from holy scriptures. May all see to it, then, that in catechitical work or in preaching of the word of God they do not teach anything that is inconsistent with the truth of the gospel and with the spirit of Christ.

"Moreover, the church, which rejects every persecution against any man, mindful of the common patrimony with the Jews and moved not by political reasons but by the gospels of spiritual love, deplores hatred, persecutions, displays of anti-semitism, directed against Jews at any time and by anyone."

The reason given for the change is that deicide is an "odious" word charged with too much emotion for a council document. It will now be for the council to decide whether or not to accept this change: acceptance will require a two-thirds majority, as would be the case for other specific modifications.

Washington Reported Fed Up With Nasser

WASHINGTON, (JCNS) The noted American columnist, Drew Pearson, last week reported in his column which is published in several hundred newspapers in the U.S.A. that rivalry had developed between the State Department and the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency over the question of whether the U.S.A. should continue to provide surplus grain to Egypt because of President Nasser's anti-American attitude.

Mr. Pearson, who is now on a tour of Africa, said that leaders and diplomats of several African countries told him that Nasser was undercutting U.S. policy "all over Africa and the Near East" and that he should be "kicked out as President of Egypt". They voiced the opinion that if Nasser did not get any wheat from the U.S. he would fall. They based their views on the "bad defeat" Nasser suffered in Yemen, the widespread corruption in Egypt, and Egypt's economy which "is limping badly".

The CIA, which originally helped to put Nasser into power, has now turned against him because he is stirring up anti-American feelings in Africa, Mr. Pearson says. The State Department, however, still backs Nasser "rather than take a chance on an unknown leader who might replace him". For this reason the U.S. recently released $37 million worth of wheat to Egypt.

Commentary

THE NEW VATICAN SCHEMA

by M. J. NURENBERGER

Rolf Hochhuth, the Protestant author of "The Deputy" fame, must be rejoicing in his literary paradise. For what has happened now in Rome regarding the ecumenical document on Jews has all the characteristics plus drama of the play in which the young German formulated his accusations against certain Vatican politics.

All the essentials are there, including some "liberal" Jews with the naive belief that they can change the pattern of the Church of Rome as they have tried to alter their own community-traditions.

Of course, there is in the present, true-to-life drama the progressive voice of John XXIII who genuinely and sincerely proposed the "aggiornamento" and hoped for a change in order to place his Church in the twentieth century.

There is, in Hochhuth's drama, a priest who urges Pope Pius XII to intervene in favor of the Jews. But Pius XII (in actuality) remained silent when his word could have saved millions of all faiths from Hitler's persecution.

Despite beliefs to the contrary, even the Church of Rome is not so monolithic as many think. While Piux XII did no even consider excommunicating Hitler (who was born an Austrian Catholic), Roncalli, his emissary in Istanbul who later became John XXIII, made serious efforts to save Jews and others from Hitlerism — without any official approval.

When John XXIII announced the meeting of the Ecumenical Council, when it became known that Augustine Cardinal Bea had been appointed head of the committee charged with preparing a document "exonerating" the Jews from the "deicide" charge, many professional Jews in various organizations became "active". At "secret" parlor meetings, each of these professionals appealed for financial support on the strength that his organization — and his alone — had been instrumental in the successful Vatican lobbying.

Dr. Eisendrath, a leader of the liberal wing in Judaism, called upon us to accept Jesus—as a gesture of sheer gratitude to Rome. This was the signal for a kind of queue of flatterers, each trying to outdo the other in publicity so that Rome would know just how much these "Jewish leaders" were under obligation to the Roman Church. Not only was a line formed in New York newspaper offices by those anxious to outdo their "competitors" in supplying press releases — there actually was a movement for taking photographs with the leader of the Catholic Church in Rome's antechambers.

The voice of reason was silenced. Those in the traditional Jewish fold, the Torah authorities of our generation who had cautioned all these religious politicians to keep out of this debate and to respect the right of the Catholics to solve their problem within their own circle — who had implored tact and who had warned against surprises — they were decried as obscurantists.

Then the great tragedy occurred. John XXIII passed away. On his throne was crowned Cardinal Montini, an old-school church leader who had been one of Pius XII's closest collaborators.

Paul VI began his reign with a spectacular gesture. He announced his visit to the Holy Land — as a pilgrim. This caused a new wave of excitement among those who do not consider the relations among religions from the halakhic point of view — who believe in theological debates and in convincing others to accept their dogma.

When Israel's Chief Rabbi Isaac Nissim requested that the government of Israel respect fully the Pope's professed desire to be in Israel — where he would spend his time in prayer and meditation — just as a pilgrim, some politicians launched an attack against the eminent Jewish religious leader.

At the same time I was criticized for supporting Chief Rabbi Nissim's position, which was one of dignity and respect for the Pope who, as events later proved, was not ready to recognize Israel.

Even a Toronto liberal rabbi, who today agrees with me that the Church's position towards Jews should be left to the Church, then criticized Chief Rabbi Nissim.

Yet, from the beginning of this "Ecumenical movement" among Jewish leaders, the old rabbis proved that they, not the moderns, understood the pattern of the Church of Rome. And now after years of lobbying, influence-peddling, innumerable photographs by the leaders of B'nai B'rith, The American Jewish Committee and others who had competed with each other for the title of champion of a new Vatican declaration on Jews — we have reached a situation whereby one can quote about the edited Ecumenical document on Jews the ancient Hebrew words: "Better were it not born than born."

The new Vatican statement, as released last week, repeats some of the expressions that were — according to leading Catholic sociologists — the reason and main cause of antisemitic upheavals. Yet, since these statements are based on New Testament sources, in accordance with the text of the new declaration, it behooves the Catholic Church to evaluate it; it is up to the Catholic religious leaders and laymen to discuss it; it is their conscience.

Last weekend a Toronto rabbi again raised this problem in a newspaper article instead of leaving it where it belongs — in Rome.

Discussing the announced Vatican document, this distinguished spiritual leader falls into a theological trap: he accepts the fact that Jesus died in Jerusalem 1,932 years ago. Anyone conversant with history knows that — while those who believe in the New Testament naturally accept all its narratives, especially the story of Jesus as told in Mark — others consider the New Testament but a religious source, not necessarily historical facts.

According to objective historians, the emergence and passing of Jesus is nebulous. Thus, while one respects the belief of a community that follows the teachings of the Vatican, for a rabbi to debate this issue as though the Jesus-episode in Jerusalem were a historical fact is, putting it mildly, naive.

This is why, for centuries, Torah-authorities urged that no Jewish theologians should engage in religious debate with leaders of the Roman Church.

Thus we ought leave it to the millions of liberal Catholics — especially in countries where the Catholic Church is a minority, as in the Anglo-Saxon world — to propagate the modernization of the Catholic Church and to adapt its dogmas to the nuclear age.

I hesitate to say: I told you so — from the beginning. For whatever I write in the field of religious thinking, at least I do not invent anything new. I merely follow the centuries-old, traditional Jewish wisdom of avoiding religious controversies. I only hope that all those who differ from us in belief and religion leave the Other World problems where they belong and concentrate upon coexistence in This World — despite differences.

Does this mean I do not believe that the leaders of the Roman Church will wake up finally and resume their march towards "aggiornamento"? Quite the contrary. I see that on this continent, in England and in Western Europe there are many lay and religious leaders within the Catholic fold who publicly and for the record have declared that this deicide legend has been the main cause of antisemitism, that it must be denounced once and for all. However, it is for the Catholics to take it upon themselves to do so. It is their conscience that has been troubled, particularly during the years of World War II.

While the Jewish tradition, good diplomacy and pragmatic consideration should forbid us to debate religion and send rabbis to Rome, nevertheless we should be ready to support any initiative that affects humanity — outside religion, which Catholics or Protestants undertake. At this moment, when the world is under the impression of Paul VI's appeal for peace, certainly the People of Peace are wholeheartedly behind it. However, one may add: peace comes upon the world when it is linked to justice and freedom.

Holiday Services At U.S. Congress

WASHINGTON (JCNS) — At the request of Jewish Members of Congress who were asked to attend a session of the House on the High Holy-Days, when a major Bill was due for action, the House Speaker, Mr. John McCormack, authorised the holding of Jewish services in the prayer-room of the U.S.A. Capitol building.

An Orthodox rabbi from New York was engaged to officiate at the services which were attended by the 15 Jewish Congressmen. This is a most unusual situation and is believed to be the first time in history that Jewish services have been held in the Capitol. An Ark and a Torah were brought to the prayer-room and services were held.

Jewish Colonel Dies In Pakistan-India War

BOMBAY (JCNS) — News has been received of the death in action in the fighting against Pakistan of a Jewish colonel in the Indian Army, Colonel Joseph Ephraim Jhirad.

The colonel, who was in his mid-forties, had a brilliant military career, gaining various substantive ranks at a remarkably young age. He was the younger brother of Mr. E. E. Jhirad, a leader of Delhi's small Jewish community.

As individuals and groups, Indian Jews are making their contribution to the present national effort which has united all parts of India as she has never been united before. In a message of greeting on the occasion of Rosh Hashana, Mr. H. Cynowicz, the president of the Central Jewish Board of Bombay, observed:

"At this crucial hour of trial, we all stand united with the rest of the nation in the defence of the country's integrity, freedom and brotherhood".

Mr. Sellim Samuel, the president of the Bombay Zionist Association, has called upon the Jews of India to "take a solemn pledge and dedicate ourselves to the cause of the nation and work ceaselessly and stand steadfast and see that truth and justice prevail and that the democracy and freedom for which India has always stood triumph'.

TORONTO ORTHODOXY PLEDGES SUPPORT TO "YESODAY HATORAH"

Toronto's orthodox Jewish community pledged itself to assure the existence and development of Yeshivat Yesoday Hatorah, the legacy of the recently departed Rabbi Meir Gruenwald. — This undertaking was made by Rabbi Gedalia Felder, president of the Rabbinical Council, when he eulogized the late Rabbi Gruenwald at a community memorial meeting held last Sunday in the Beth Hamidrash of Shlomei Emunei Yisroel.

More than one thousand leading members of Toronto's community filled the hall and vestibule of the synagogue to pay tribute to Rabbi Gruenwald who died last week at the age of 58.

The Hesped (memorial service) was addressed by Rabbi Yehoshua Gruenwald, the famous Chuster Rav, who flew in from New York for the occasion; Rabbi Yaakov Weinberg, Rosh Yeshiva of Toronto's Ner Israel; Rabbi Moshe Rom, head of the Yeshia Yesoday Hatorah; and Rabbi Joseph Schoenfeld of New York.

The theme of all speakers was a reminder to the community that it owes a moral debt to Rabbi Gruenwald which is to secure the existence of the institution he built—Yeshivat Yesoday Hatorah.

The memorial was attended by all orthodox rabbis of Metropolitan Toronto.

Shazar At 3 Synagogues

JERUSALEM (JCNS) — President Shazar attended Holy Day services at three Jerusalem synagogues, a Rehavia synagogue, the Yeshurun Synagogue and Hechal Shlomo.

Hundreds of thousands of Israelis celebrated the High Holydays in synagogues all over the country. Soldiers attended services in army camps. At the same time about half a million Israelis spent the holiday outside their homes, in Galilee, the Negev or in the coastal plain, where most of the hotels were heavily booked in advance.

New Community In Southern Spain

BARCELONA (JCNS) — A Jewish community has celebrated Rosh Hashana in the southern coastal city of Malaga for the first time. The official establishment of a Malaga community brings to five the number of Jewish communities now under Spanish sovereignty.

The others — in Madrid, Barcelona, Ceuta and Melilla — have been in existence for many years. They will now be joined in the Co-ordinating Council of Spanish Communities by Malaga in whose foundation they have been concerned.

A spokesman for the Co-ordinating Council told the JCNS correspondent here that it was intended that the religious facilities henceforth to be available to the Malaga community would also be shared with those Jewish tourists who visited this popular holiday area.

Malaga has, as yet, no rabbi of its own and High Holy-day services are being led by a chazan loaned by the sister community of Ceuta, in Spanish North Africa. A permanent synagogue and communal centre will be established at Calle Marmoles, 30.

With the establishment of the Malaga community, there are now Jewish groups in all those areas of Spain with a sizeable Jewish population. It is hoped that further moves forward can be made when there is official national unity of Jewish communities in Spain, something which must remain a hope under Spain's present legal arrangements.

Moscow Resents Criticism

LONDON (JCNS) — Soviet sensitivity on the subject of Russian Jewry has never been more sharply demonstrated than in the vigorous reaction of Moscow's official propaganda organs to last week's Washington vigil on behalf of Soviet Jewry, mounted by a host of Jewish organisations and supported by President Johnson, as well as well-known Negro and Church leaders.

Broadcasts and commentaries beamed to North America by Moscow radio and the official news agency, Tass, have charged that the White House, by endorsing the vigil with a message from the President, has "publicly dealt a crippling blow to its much-advertised idea of building bridges' with the Soviet Union.

"We are not surprised that in the United States there are numerous private organisations specialising in anti-Communism. They have gone to extremes in their efforts to slander the Socialist system, and the campaign in defence of the rights of Soviet Jewry pursues the same goal. The organisers are not in the least disturbed b ythe fact that no one asked them for protection," the Moscow commentator declared.

"But the White House's official and public support of this campaign gives it an absolutely new meaning... The cold war is not an abstract conception. It is the product of a whole string of unfriendly and downright hostile steps against other nations, and Washington's participation in this current and dirty anti-Soviet campaign is an act of precisely such calibre."

HUMAN RELATIONS

A Brother's Teasing

DR. ROSE N. FRANZBLAU

QUESTION: I am almost 13, and have a 16-year-old brother. He teases me to death.

My parents love me, but they're always yelling at me. When my brother starts teasing me, and I tell my parents, they either tell me not to bother them or blame me. If they're in a good mood, they'll tell my brother to leave me alone. These things bother me very much.

The only one I can confide in is my cousin. Sometimes I get so miserable I just cry and cry.

ANSWER: Brothers and sisters try out on each other behavior that they would fear to express towards outsiders.

You must look forward with great anticipation to your teen years. But, at the same time, looking forward to it may be filled with some agitation. On the one hand, you wanted to be protected by your parents as if you were a little one. But at the same time you want attention and respect from them and your brother.

In the presence of parents, relatives or friends, a girl can turn on the feminine charm, which can be devastating to an older brother. By the sweetness she shows others, she tells the older one off. The older one is caught unprepared and thrown off balance. His chivalry demands that he be silent. To hit back at a girl would be unmanly. Hence it becomes an unfairly pitched battle with the aggressor appearing like the victim.

When the family is alone, the older brother can hit back, physically and verbally. The little sister doesn't know how to handle this teasing talk or provocative statements, and she runs to the parents, asking them to side with her against the brother. When they tell her to handle it herself, she becomes furious.

What basically upsets her is the fear that she won't be able to handle herself when boys on the outside tease her in the same way. She begins to wonder if she'll be attractive to boys. Will boys ever like her? Will she have dates? Then, of course, will she finally find a "one and only" to love her.

Your brother, in a way, symbolizes all boys. Fighting with a brother at this stage in your life has nothing to do with your attractiveness to boys or your future popularity.

You must know deep down that there is something provocative in your behavior toward your brother. Girls your age have their own ways of getting attention and boys respond in their own way too.

If you are really unhappy with your brother's teasing, you must stop provoking him. Your contribution to the fights may be to get in the act when he is doing his homework, or when his friends are around. You ought to go about your own business more when the family is together. It would be wise to let him have the floor once in a while and not to take over.

It is good to have a friend or relative your own age in whom you can confide. But when your confidences consist mainly of criticisms of your brother and of your parents, then you must, sooner or later, feel like a tattle-tale. Your guilt will then make you behave in such a way as to provoke others to punish you. Thus, you can feel you have paid the price for being disloyal to your family.

It would be of help if you could try to make friends with a wider circle of classmates rather than sticking only to your cousin. You might join the youth groups in the church or temple you attend, and get involved in its activities. There you would meet youngsters with interests like your own. At first your friends would be girls, but in time boys will become interested in you, and then you will find your "life with brother" to have been of great help to you in dealing with them.

ISRAEL'S ELECTION

BEN GURION IS 79; FIT AND READY

Tel Aviv. — The twice-retired statesman David Ben-Gurion will celebrate his 79th birthday Oct. 16 amid a political battle to be decided at the polls two weeks later.

The white-maned leader — widely regarded as the architect of Israel — is fighting from the fringe of the political arena whose center he occupied for decades. This time he is pitted against the 'establishment," against former friends and disciples, against the successor he nominated when he stepped down from power in June, 1963.

Casts Giant Shadow

Even in retirement the short, stocky Ben-Gurion has cast a giant shadow on the country's political scene. Now, back in the forefront of the fight, he has managed to upset the whole pattern of his country's political structure.

Ben-Gurion may have few prospects to return to the premiership after the Nov. 2 general election. At best he can hope to force Premier Levi Eshkol, his former friend and now his political arch foe, out of power.

Some Israelis regard the elderly leader as a Don Quixote trying to storm the windmill. Others believe he has lost his grip. But as polling day approaches, his political rivals seem to fear Ben-Gurion's appeal to the masses.

He is still the country's greatest crowd-drawing figure. His energy and drive seem little affected by age. At 79 he runs up a staircase like a youth. He still can address four or five audiences in a day.

Yogi-like Feats

The secret of his fitness may be the exercises by which he sets great store — a brisk daily three-mile walk and occasional yogi-like feats such as standing on his head.

Ben-Gurion has always inspired either intense admiration and loyalty or fierce antagonism and hatred.

As a politician he can be hardhitting and blunt. Recently at the height of his quarrel with Eshkol, he remarked that to his regret his successor lacked some of the essential attributes required by a Premier. He accused Eshkol of uttering untruths.

He says the Mapai, the party which he led for decades, has lost its moral and ideological basis.

"Lately a regime of fear and deceit has conquered the party," he charged before a Mapai tribunal which expelled him and his supporters from party ranks.

ISRAEL ARGENTINA AGREEMENT

BUENOS AIRES, (JCNS) A new cultural agreement between Argentina and Israel was signed here by Dr. Miguel Angel Zavala Ortiz, the Argentine Foreign Minister, and Dr. Moshe Alon, the Israeli Ambassador.

The agreement, widening that signed on May 23, 1957, will provide for the establishment of a mixed commission of eight members — four for each side — to meet at least once a year. It will prepare a programme of activities and recommend to both Governments steps needed to put the cultural agreement into effect.

Dr. Zavala Ortiz took this opportunity to express his satisfaction at the signing of the agreement. He said he was very happy to point to the excellent relations already prevailing between the two countries in the Cultural as well as in the social and commercial spheres.

At this point, the kreplach may be wrapped in foil and frozen until needed, or covered with a large kettle of boiling water to which ½ teaspoon of salt has been added. Half-cover the saucepan and boil rapidly for 20 minutes. Drain.

YOM KIPPUR EVE

By RUTHIE

Sure, not only is Yom Kippur Eve over but so is Yom Kippur. And I hope you fasted well, like me, and all your hopes and prayers and appeals to be inscribed in the Book of Life for another year went straight up to Heaven, and next year we should be able to do the same thing and . . .

I can go on forever but I have to cut it short. Ned's shouting,

"So alright! Enough! Stop already with the bentching (blessing). You sound like my grandmother."

So that's bad? Of course, I'm a little too young to be compared with a bubbie (grandma). But, having children of my own, I tolerate the likeness.

As the years creep up, I find myself poohpoohing more, blessing more, hesitating more often to go out in the dark.

* * * * *

But let's get back to Erev Yom Kippur. With the glow of the New Year, a feeling of magnanimity is intensified on the eve of Yom Kippur. Then the New Year prayers reach a climax. You feel so benevolent. On Yom Kippur your fate for another year is sealed. You're inscribed in the Book of Life. And, God willing, you vow never to be mean again. You say alkhet (ask forgiveness). You're washed clean; there's not a wretched bone in your body.

All of a sudden, you have no enemies. And if there were a few — well, you still don't wish them ill. Only, whatever they begrudge you they should see by you triple.

* * * * *

Reaching closer to home, your husband is so nice. Not that he isn't all along. Otherwise would you have married him? Only, he's not so sharp. You can contradict him a million times, he still remains calm and gentle.

"Okey, it's a new year. Let's start over."

You look surprised. Such pleasant reaction comes but once a year. You take advantage and throw the book at him. For 364 days you try not to nag. This time it's your prerogative.

Because when he opens the Good Book, he must have goodness and love in his heart for all fellowmen, especially his wife —— his good, good soul even if she is bossy most of the time.

And what if she does pester her man often? It's for his own good. Fine, he eats what he wants, but at least she doesn't have a guilty conscience because she's always warning him to cut calories; he keeps trekking footmarks onto the rug and she's always mad about it but he should understand, he paid such hard-earned money for the carpeting, he shouldn't want to mess it up so fast; she's always crying for more money, she practically supports the hairdresser, well, he should be proud she wants to look nice for him all the time; she's always after him about his combination of tie and shirt, well, after all, why should he look married even if he is?

Oh, boy, that's the time a wife really has a field day! Too bad Erev Yom Kippur comes only once a year.

* * * * *

Now we're on the eve of Sukkot. And my lord and master is outside putting up the Sukka.

Nu, happy holiday, and may this coming year be one of peace, contentment, our children should be well . . .

Excuse me, I'll finish another time. Lovey-dovey, outside is hollering for a band-aid.

Brought to Canada by Canadian Concerts and Artists Inc., the revue is embarking now on a cross country tour. Among its attractions are: The Rainbow Girls, a chorus of 30 dancers and singers comparable to Radio City Music Hall's Rockettes; Yuri Goulaev, a handsome young man whose bass has been extoled by European critics; Kyra Smirnova who has been compared with Yma Sumac because of her extraordinarily wide vocal range; Nicolas Ozernoi and Valeri Bahtiarov, who provide accordian music and Russian Folk dance routines; Allo Allaev, drummer; Strongman Guenadi Popov; acrobatic artists; Leningrad marionettes.

Winter Series

The Royal Alexandra winter series promises diversity and entertainment. Brigadoom comes on December 6th, the Lerner and Lowe musical which also provides a story of magic; What Makes Sammy Run?, Broadway's controversial smash hit based on Bud Schulberg's best-selling novel; Oklahoma!, which was awarded the Pulitzer Prize in 1944 and still is going strong; Teahouse of the August Moon, the charming comedy of humor and pathos; Pal Joey, the Rodgers and Hart musical, one of the funniest off Broadway; Jerome Kern's and Oscar Hammerstein's Show Boat, the most romantic musical ever written, containing such hits as Bill, Make Believe, and, Ol Man River.

Canadian Premiere

Cindy, the off-Broadway musical hit now in its third year, opens on Tuesday, October 12th, at the Hydro Theater. Presented here by Steven H. Stern Productions in association with Belmont Theater Productions, Cindy stars Sylvia and Ben Lennick, the Mr. and Mrs. team of Toronto.

The comedy is a modern Cinderella story with plenty of rented minks and hot pastrami sandwiches.

Ben and Sylvia are supported by a strong cast including Murray Goldkind, Diana Nyland as Cindy, Pamela Fernie, Glan Gibson, Grant Robinson, Natalie Butko, Jennifer Tesar, Nancy Karr, Don Sutherland, Art Janoff.

Jack Marigold directs; musical direction is under Ben McPeek.

OF SUNNY MEXICO. — Marguerite Yanuziello, exponent of Mexican folk dancing and professional soloist in the United States and Canada for more than fifteen years, in a typical costume of Veracruz. Miss Yanuziello is mistress of a dancing school in Toronto's Wilson-Bathurst area.

SCHOOL HONOURS ANNE FRANK

ROME (JCNS) — A high school in Rome has been named in memory of Anne Frank, the Jewish girl who wrote the diary of her suffering while hiding in an Amsterdam attic from the Nazis and died in Bergen-Belsen concentration camp in 1945 at the age of 15.

U.S. TAKES STEPS AGAINST ARAB BOYCOTT

WASHINGTON (JCNS) — The Department of Commerce has issued its long-awaited regulations asking U.S.A. business firms not to co-operate with the Arab countries in their efforts to impose a boycott on Israel. The regulations are intended to implement the anti-boycott amendments to the Export Control Act recently adopted by Congress.

Under the regulations, U.S.A. exporters must report to the Commerce Department within 15 days on requests from foreign countries for boycott action or other restrictive trade practices directed against another foreign country. Although the Arab countries were not specifically mentioned in the regulations, the implication was clear.

In announcing the regulations, the Secretary of Commerce, Mr. John T. Connor, said:

"It is the policy of the U.S.A. to oppose restrictive trade practices or boycotts fostered by foreign countries against other countries friendly to the U.S.A. All U.S.A. exporters of articles, materials, supplies or information are encouraged and requested to refuse to take, but are not legally prohibited from taking, any action, including the furnishing of information or the signing of any agreement, which has the effect of furthering or supporting such restrictive trade practices or boycott. Accordingly, I encourage and request individuals and firms receiving such requests to refuse to comply with them."

A number of instruments, utensils and spear and arrow-heads were found, the spokesman said. He could not explain the existence of a cemetery in the area, however, since there was no known settlement of the same period in the vicinity.

Ceremony In Washington As Israelis Complete Payment On American Loan

WASHINGTON (JCNS) — A special ceremony was held Thursday at the offices of the Export-Import Bank in Washington, when the Israeli Minister of Finance Pinhas Sapir, presented a cheque to the president of the bank, Harold F. Linder, as the final payment of the $135 million loan made to Israel on January 19, 1948.

The 1949 loan was the first major loan made to Israel by the U.S.A. Since then the Export-Import Bank which is a United States Government agency, has made available 15 additional credits to Israel totalling $111 million.

While the 1949 loan was instrumental in enabling Israel as a new country to establish a viable economy, the credits issued later were used to finance various purchases ranging from a pulp and paper plant to jet aircraft for El Al, and including such items as generating equipment, locomotives, highway maintenance equipment, agricultural machinery and materials for a fertilliser plant.

RUSSIAN SCIENTIST'S PRAISE

SOFIA (JCNS) Galina Nikitina, a scientific director of the Asian Institute at the Russian Academy of Science, has given warm praise to Israel's artistic and literary achievements in the publication of children's books.

Miss Nikitina, who recently visited Israel, was addressing a gathering at a Moscow exhibition of Israeli children's books which has just completed its three-week run.

Among the many exhibits was a beautifully illustrated book of "Children's Songs" by Chaim Nahman Bialik. Also on display were children's books by Jacob Fischmann, Abraham Schlonsky, Imima Czernowitz and Mariam Ilen-Shteklin.

TACUARA MEETING BANNED

BUENOS AIRES, (JCNS) The police have forbidden the "Movimento Nacionalista Tacuara" to hold a mass meeting at the grave of Facundo Quiroga (a bloody tyrant of the middle of the 19th century), on Sunday.

A police statement published in the press announced the decision and said that all necessary measures had been taken to prevent any possible disturbance.

ARCAND RALLY

was surrounded by storm troupers wearing special dark suits and he entered the hall to the accompaniment of military music.

Arcand calls his party L'Unite Nationale, and has adopted the symbol of a white fleur-de-lis on a red cross enclosed in a circle against an aqua background.

This was Arcand's second speech in the last four weeks. He described both Robert Winters, a Liberal candidate, and George Hees, a Conservative candidate, as frontmen for "the Jews".

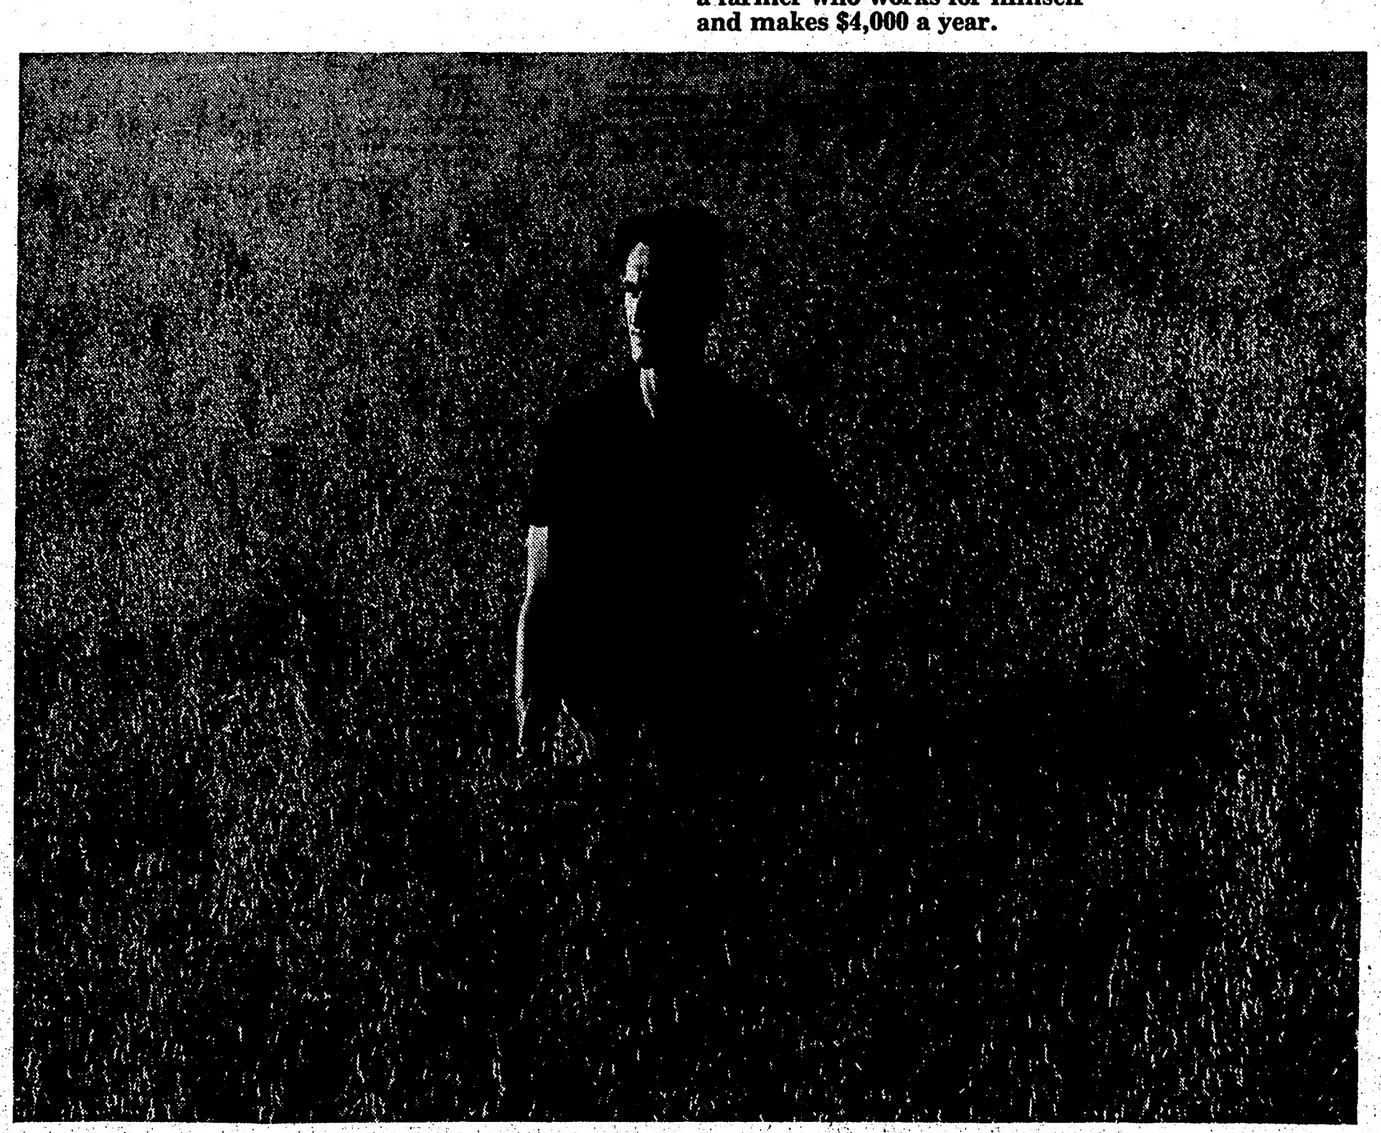
The Canada Pension Plan and its benefits

Here is what the Canada Pension Plan will do for people like Thor Andersen, a farmer who works for himself and makes $4,000 a year.



The Andersens are both aged 45 and have no family. If Thor's earnings continue at $4,000 a year until he reaches age 65, he can look forward to a retirement pension of $83.33 a month from the Plan. This, plus the $75 each Mr. and Mrs. Andersen will receive from Old Age Security, will give them a total of $233.33 a month—equal to 70% of Thor's previous average earnings.

If Thor becomes disabled anytime after 1970, having contributed until his disability began, he will get a disability pension of $87.50 a month. This will continue until he becomes 65 when he will receive his retirement and Old Age Security pensions.

Should Thor die anytime after 1967, having contributed until his death, his wife will receive a widow's pension of $56.25 a month until she becomes 65. From then on she will get $125 a month—$50 from the Plan and $75 from Old Age Security. At the time of Thor's death Mrs. Andersen will be entitled to a lump sum payment of $500.

All benefits under the Plan will maintain their value. The actual benefits payable will probably be higher than those given here since benefits will be adjusted to meet changes in living costs and in wage levels before they are paid and changes in living costs after they become payable.

What will the Plan cost you?

If you, like Thor, in a particular year, have self-employed earnings of $4,000 you will pay $122.40 in instalments, in the same way you pay income tax.

This advertisement is one of a series which relates some of the important benefits of the Canada Pension Plan to individual circumstances.

Issued by authority of the Minister of National Health and Welfare, Canada,
The Honourable Judy LaMarsh.
